

HUERTA GOVERNMENT
SLOWLY CRUMBLING

WILSON CONFIDENT THAT DIC-TATOR'S POWER VERGES ON COLLAPSE.

INTEREST IN MESSAGE

President Will Treat Mexican Situation Frankly in Message to Congress—Document Nearly Ready.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Nov. 24.—President Wilson's belief that the Huerta government is slowly crumbling was today reiterated at the White House. The president pointed out that the press in Mexico City could print uncontradicted, baseless statements as to the future intentions of the United States.

Huerta Controls Press.
An evidence of the ability of the Huerta government to spread any impression it pleased through the Mexican press, the president inferred incidentally to optimistic predictions during the last few days in Mexican newspapers that recognition of the Huerta government by the United States was forthcoming. The Washington government, it is known, is irrevocably determined under no circumstances to recognize Huerta.

There was no new developments today in the situation generally, according to White House officials, but added interest was developing in the president's forthcoming annual message which he will read to congress, when it became known that among the subjects to be discussed will be a statement of the status of the Mexican situation.

Foreign Attitude Pleasant.

The president indicated that he would keep his message abreast of developments in Mexico so that his presentation of events would be up to the day of delivery. Mr. Wilson expressed satisfaction today over the attitude of foreign governments and indicated it was wholly friendly and showed a desire to co-operate with the United States wherever possible.

Message Near Completion.
President Wilson's annual message which he will read to congress, will be finished tomorrow, just when it will be delivered will depend upon the convenience of both houses in arranging a joint session. Hitherto the president's message has been read the day after the convening of congress.

It is expected that the president will dwell considerably on the need for early action on the currency bill and that he will devote in a general way the attitude of the administration toward trust legislation, leaving to the congressional committee the task of writing specific remedies. He will also refer to the Mexican situation.

Buys Argentine Beef.
The navy department stocked the supply ship Culcra, about to sail for the Gulf of Mexico, with Argentine beef, which cost less than the lowest price made by American packers. A consignment of 235,000 pounds was bought at 11.90 cents per pound, the lowest price for American beef being 12.40.
The Culcra will sail from New York either today or tomorrow.

The navy also has just saved $9,525 by having a quantity of canned corn beef in the Australian markets. This consignment of 120,000 pounds was bought at 13.37 cents per pound, the lowest American price being 23.31 cents.

ASK FOR AUTHORITY
TO INCREASE RATES

Representatives of Railways Appear Before Interstate Commerce Commission.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Nov. 24.—Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, Frederick A. Delano, president of the Washash, and George Stewart Patterson, general solicitor of the Pennsylvania, appeared before the interstate commerce commission to argue for authority to increase rates on all classes of freight traffic, approximately 5 percent, east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

Through the proposed increase rates are asked by the railroads in the territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers, the hearing is of the utmost importance to all the railroads of the United States, for should the commission grant the authority for the increase, it might extend the authority to the other railroads of the country.
The commission will inquire whether present rates yield adequate revenue to the common carriers and much testimony will be taken. Only the opening arguments by the representatives of the railroad are to be heard today.

FIFTY POUND LIMIT
FOR PARCELS POST

Postmaster General Burleson Recommends That It Be Placed at This Figure.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Nov. 24.—Postmaster General Burleson has recommended to the interstate commerce commission that the maximum weight of parcels post packages be increased from 20 to 50 pounds for all distances.

Before the weight limit may be increased it will be necessary under the law for the commission to pass affirmatively upon Mr. Burleson's recommendation. It is expected to take such action.

The proposed change will not effect existing parcels post rates.

The lower rates will continue to apply only to matters transported with the first and second zone.

FILLS UP ON CIDER
AND RUNS OFF WITH EMPLOYER'S HORSE

Oscar Bangs Gets as Far as Whitewater With Rig Owned by Avon Rye at Johnstown.

While Mr. and Mrs. Avon Rye of Johnstown were spending Sunday at Wilton, their hired man, Oscar Bangs, aged about 24 years, took advantage of their absence to tap the hard cider jug, and after filling up to his own satisfaction he conceived the idea of stealing out with one of his employer's fine driving horses. He appropriated a single buggy, an overcoat and the contents of a toy bank belonging to Mr. Rye's young son, as the equipment for his expedition.

Upon their return yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Rye ascertained at once the state of affairs and began an investigation. They learned from neighbors who were returning from church at that time that Bangs started away that he was headed towards Whitewater. They telephoned to the authorities at that place and hurried in pursuit.

It was one o'clock this morning before Mr. Rye returned home after securing the arrest of Bangs at Whitewater, where he is now being held in the city lockup. Bangs had been employed by Mr. Rye since last spring, being on parole from the state reformitory at Green Bay, to which he had been sentenced for arson. This is the first offense of any kind that the young man has committed since his parole and he was considered as an honorable and reliable fellow by his employer and others who knew him.

Bangs' violation of his parole has been reported to the reformatory and state authorities who will indicate what action shall be taken against him. It is possible that he may be sent to the reformatory. Local officials had not heard at a late hour this afternoon what the intention was.

Forced to Close Tight Because of Supreme Court Ruling.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Des Moines, Nov. 24.—With every saloon in town closed tight as the result of the supreme court decision, there was little more to be done today than any effort to re-open the saloons would be made before tomorrow.

Judge A. C. Parker, representing the liquor interests, said the application for a rehearing upon which the court had granted a stay of execution permitting the saloons to operate for thirty or sixty days, would hardly be fied today.

WASHINGTON READY
FOR WHITE HOUSE
WEDDING TUESDAY

Four Hundred Guests Will Witness
Thirteenth Wedding at White House, of Miss Jessie Wilson on Tuesday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Before an improvised altar in the historic East Room of the White House, on the same spot where Miss Nellie Grant and Algernon Sartoris took the vows forty years ago, and where Miss Alice Roosevelt and Nicholas Lons-worth plighted their troth in 1903, the Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, pastor of the Presbyterian church in Princeton, N. J., will tomorrow afternoon pronounce the nuptials which will unite in marriage Miss Jessie Wilson Wilson, daughter of the president of the United States, and Francis Bowes Sayre, son of the late Robert A.
Sayre, the builder of the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

The ceremony—which is set for 4:30 p. m.—will be witnessed by one of the most brilliant and distinguished assemblages ever gathered in the executive mansion. The guests will desire not only of Miss Wilson, who was most concerned, but of the president and Mrs. Wilson, that the wedding should be celebrated in a manner commensurate with the occasion.
The bride is a family affair. This, it was disclosed, could not be gratified.
Only about 400 guests, mostly relatives and intimate friends, will witness the ceremony. The bride has been times that number have been invited to attend the reception following.
Among those in attendance will be the vice president and Mrs. Marshall, the foreign diplomats and their families, the cabinet members and families, the supreme court justices and their families, and numerous members of congress and high officers of the navy and army and their families. The relatives of the bride and groom alone number several score.
The most of these, together with the members of the wedding party, are already guests at the White House and are expected to be more elaborate than any heretofore. Many decorations have been in the adminis-

MRS. WORRY. ARE THERE ANY LADIES PRESENT WHO ARE NOT CURIOUS?

Sport Snap Shots

Dave Fultz, the president of the Baseball Players' fraternity, is an old-time ball player. He is familiar with every phase of the national pastime and is also a lawyer of ability. And this is why he has been selected by the players as the ideal man to represent them in any little bickerings they may have with their employers. All of the players agree that it would be hard for them to find a man more admirably fitted to fill the job than Mr. Fultz. The club owners and managers, however, do not. Garry Herrmann in a speech made recently at the minor leagues' banquet in Columbus said that he did not think Fultz was the right man for such a position. Garry seemed to feel that a regular ball player selected from the ranks would be better. It appears that other club owners think somewhat the same as Mr. Herrmann. Do the players therefore repine that they have selected Fultz? Do they think they have made a mistake in electing someone not thoroughly approved by the club owners? Oh, indeed they do not. They feel all the more certain that their selection has been a wise one. Fultz knows baseball and he knows the law. Club owners are experienced in dealing with ball players, but they will not get so easy when they have matters to discuss with Mr. Fultz.

Just seven different players managed to get as many as five hits in one game this past season. And that stands as the record for hits per game, giving most of the players an average for the day of 100. Five of the players turning the trick were National leaguers and two American leaguers. Beals Decker with the Phillies managed to score at it twice. The two American league players getting five bingles in one game were Eddie Collins of the Athletics and big Ed Sweeney, the Yankee catcher. The National league swatters were Decker, Gravy Cravath of the Phillies, Sam Rice of the Braves, Rebel Oakes of the Cardinals and Muranville of Boston. It is interesting that in each game where all these hits were made at

IN EXCITING FINISH MONROE COUNT FIELD GOAL AND A VICTORY

Janesville Highs Are Beaten in Last Three Minutes of Play, After Beautiful Place-Kick

Monroe proved the luckiest eleven during the last three minutes of play last Saturday, forcing Janesville to bow before a perfectly judged place-kick by the drive team. The score of the visitors. Up to that time the score had been 10 to 9 in the local's favor, and it was only a matter of time until the whistle would blow. But the local's defense was too strong for the kick to be executed. The final score was 12 to 10 in favor of Monroe High.

Atwood kicked off to Voss, who returned the ball twenty yards. The wind was in Monroe's favor. Janesville's first defense were playing poorly, all of the tackles being left behind. Atwood and Dearborn showed up well in getting their man on the line and running while Dalton and Stewart took care of the line plunges. Monroe took the ball directly down the field, and Hosely was sent over for the remaining distance of 5 yards for the first score. Three minutes following the kick-off Voss kicked the goal. Score, Monroe 7, Janesville 0.

Voss kicked to Atwood who returned the ball twenty yards. Janesville rushed the ball on Monroe's six-inch line, where they lost it on downs. The local's had but one foot to go on fourth down, and by accurate measurements, Referee Koch said they made only half of the distance. It was Monroe's ball on the six-inch mark. Voss kicked from behind Monroe's goal line, the ball going for fifty yards. Stewart returning it 15 yards, Janesville again rushed the ball on the field, but lost it on a fumble. Here Monroe played real football. A perfectly executed forward pass, by Voss to Guagl, the right end, gained sixty yards. The ball was Monroe's on the Janesville 50-yard line. Carrying the ball to the 10-foot line, Monroe were held for four downs by Janesville. Mount made a bad throw as the ball went to Janesville. Atwood was ready to kick from behind the local's goal line when Mount made the wild pass, the ball sailing over Atwood's head. Atwood touched the ball to the ground. It was the Janesville 5-yard line. Score, Monroe 9, Janesville 0.

It was Janesville's ball on the 20-yard line. Several good gains by the local's placed the ball on the forty-yard mark, as time was called for first half.

Third Quarter. Voss kicked to Mooney who ran back 15 yards. Straight football gave Janesville the ball on Monroe's one-foot line. Here Hayes went between Mount's legs as a flash for Janesville's first score. Atwood kicked out to Badger. Atwood kicked goal. Score, Monroe 9, Janesville 7.

Atwood kicked to Hosely, who was downed in his tracks. Steady plunges took the ball to the center of the field, where Janesville held for downs. Voss punted, Dalton returning the

The feud started in 1883, when a McCoy was convicted of stealing one Hatfield hog. There has been much blood spilled in the feud since that time, and it is only within a few months that it has come to an end.

All but thirty-six of these, besides 730 applications filed during this administration, have been passed upon. Mail facilities for 500,000 more persons have been provided for by the establishment of 695 more Monroe were forced to kick. There was three minutes left to play, and Voss realized that. He dropped back, with the wind blowing strong in his favor, and made the place-kick which gave Monroe the game. It was a twenty-yard kick. Score, Monroe 12, Janesville 10.

The remainder of the quarter was played fairly even, although Janesville threatened in last second to score. Final score, Monroe 12, Janesville 10.

YALE AND WISCONSIN DEFEATED IN GAMES FOR COLLEGE TITLES

Brickley Kicks Harvard to Victory by Five Field Goals Over Yale—Stagg's Maroons Out-plays Badgers.

Battling for final football honors of the nation, Harvard, with one Charles Brickley at the helm, sent joy into the Crimson rosters by defeating Yale 15 to 0. The Crimson under, who has defeated the other fifteen points for the Harvard by the air route, booting the ball between the Yale posts from all angles, ranges and distances.

Stagg's eleven trained to a point of perfection with a catalogue of foot ball that has been bottled up all season, crushed Wisconsin 19 to 0, winning the big nine conference championship and laying just claims to the title of the west. Wisconsin, with two weeks' training and practicing, put up a stiff battle, showing a vast improvement from their behavior in the Minnesota game, but were licked by superior team work and dashing generalship of Russell, Maroon quarter. The butlers played as a unit, for three quarters exerting all the driving power that was in them by leaving gaping holes in the Badger line, skirting the ends for sensational runs and affording a solid forward wall for the Wisconsin backs to bump to when near the goal. Football critics suddenly changed their minds regarding Bellows, who has been named as one of the reasons for Wisconsin's poor showing, for he was a great factor in his team's showing. Back played the conference champs for long runs while Butler rent the Maroon line and stopped Stagg's formations.

Before 4,000 people Yale held their mighty rivals from crossing the Blue line and water. Brickley, running the air route. Both teams resorted to the watching game, waiting for the fatal slip that would send the touchdown across. In the punting department Mahan outclasses Knowles and the Yale swatters had a dangerous habit of dropping the ball, giving them a poor start in running back the boots.

After getting his "big foot" warmed up, Brickley started a bombardment through the air, and only three times did he fail to plant the ball between the counting posts. Coach Haughton had drilled the Crimson fortification to stand as a bulwark, giving the kicker the best time to boot his kick successfully. The bull dog spirit kept the Harvard backs safe from dashing off long gains, but Brickley and Mahan were able to get within kicking distance either by exchanging punts or rimping through the line for steady gains. Yale obtained their points when O'Brien committed a boneheaded play touching the ball behind their own goal, while Guerrinay endeavored to keep pace with Brickley in the kicking. Brickley, by his feat, has gained the honor of the best kicker in the game, and being able to make good on that number of kicks during one game is a record that has only been accomplished twice in the history of the game among big colleges. This victory is Harvard's first at the Yale stadium, and for the first time Haughton's eleven was the first

BELOIT RIPPERS BEATEN BY LOCAL ELEVEN SUNDAY

The Beloit Rippers gave Spohn's Tigers a tight football game Sunday afternoon at the Driving park, the Janesville team finally managing to nose out a 6 to 0 victory in the last two minutes of play.

Both teams played ragged football, fumbling of punts, and dropping the ball after being tackled, lost several chances for both elevens to score. After battling evenly during the first three quarters, Janesville moved the pig skin down the field and Stewart quarterback for the Tigers, went over for the only goal of the game. Beloit's fullback was the only visiting player that could gain any distance through the Janesville forward wall, and Beloit was unable to make good on their passes and end runs.

The local team suffered heavily from penalties, by Referee Austin, both teams being guilty of an unnecessary amount of rough playing.

AN INVESTMENT THAT PAYS.
Tennis is over with for the year.
Golf is about at an end. The great open out-of-doors which has been the training master to millions for some happy months is closing up its season.
What are you going to do about it?
You, Mr. Hard-working Man, who have sacrificed your few pounds of flesh to the healthful strain, and have received in exchange a tonic better than any drug in the Pharmacopoeia, are you going, now that winter draws on, to let your hard muscles soften, your clear eye dull, your quickened vitality slump and slacken? If so, don't blame Providence or the weather because you fall a prey to tonsillitis or grip, or find yourself presently winning from the twinges of rheumatism, or hobble forth next spring feeling somewhat more than a thousand years old. It's all your own fault.
You will have wasted capital: the capital of bodily and nervous force which you have laid up for yourself by your summer's exercise. Why not keep it up in the winter? Surely there is some sort of athletic opportunity in your town—club or quasiclub, handball court, or Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium. If there isn't there ought to be. Get busy and start one. Indoor exercise may not be as enlivening or quite as beneficial as outdoor play, but it is an incalculable number of times better than none at all. Of course there is the familiar can't-afford-the-time argument; but the man who advances this plea is usually the man who, about February, takes three weeks off to go to the hospital with stomach trouble, or gets invited off to a sanatorium to recuperate his depleted nerves.
Three hours a week in a gymnasium isn't very much to expend. Five is better; but three, conscientiously adhered to, will keep the average man going and enable him to get through his winter's work in sound condition.
Give it a trial. It isn't an amusement only: it's an investment.

This sound advice, from a late magazine, is worth heeding, and, fortunately for Janesville people, it can be easily adopted, for the Y. M. C. A. building, with its modern equipment, is an ideal winter playground, and it should be liberally patronized. Not only by business men, who need the relaxation and physical exercise, but by men from the shops and factories as well, because of the wholesome recreation, at light expense.

The directors of the Y. M. C. A. association are to be congratulated on the broad and liberal policy adopted in equipping the building. A first-class bowling alley is supplemented by a modern billiard hall, supplied with the best tables that could be procured. The game of billiards at home, has long been recognized as innocent as any other amusement, and properly envied, as it will be at the Y. M. C. A. building, it will maintain its reputation in the field of wholesome recreation.

The game is purely scientific and never clashed with games of chance.
It never develops the gambling spirit, and in no way appeals to the gambling fraternity. The saloon has long monopolized this game, and for that reason, prejudice through ignorance has been created. The attitude of the Y. M. C. A. will do much to relieve it and place it in the column of innocent amusements, where it belongs.
In the meantime, don't forget the gymnasium, the swimming pool, and the well-equipped winter playground.

THE SUGAR QUESTION.
Evidently an announcement that the Rock County Sugar company would be forced to close down its factory here after the present season's run of beets, owing to the Wilson tariff bill, has created more than a mild sensation throughout the country. John Alward, one of the democratic leaders in the state, announces that he does not believe that the question of tariff has anything at all to do with the closing. Of course, Mr.
Alward's knowledge of the affair is first hand. Doubtless it is his money that Captain Davidson has been investing in making the local factory one of the most modern and up-to-date in the country. It is of course Mr.
Alward's money that will lie idle for some time to come, not Captain Davidson's. Hence his statement. The Milwaukee Sentinel comments on the question as follows:

"President Wilson's free sugar tariff has not reduced the price of sugar.
"But it has reduced the government revenues by some $55,000,000 annually."

"It is reducing the beet sugar growing and manufacturing industry at a rate that must be highly satisfactory to the great traders."

"It will reduce to zero the great staple cane sugar planting and manufacturing industry of Louisiana."

"Wisconsin is about to receive its first solid installment of democratic tariff results. The big beet sugar plant at Janesville will be shut down permanently with the close of the present run of sugar."

"The owners are not in business for philanthropy or their health; and since the government has decided that it is an economic wrong for the native sugar industry to be run at a profit, there is nothing for them to do but to close down."

"The fact that the senior senator from Wisconsin voted for the measure will be a poor consolation for the hundreds of wage earners and farmers who were largely dependent on that Janesville factory for their living."

"And we presume many other beet sugar plants throughout the union will follow suit."

"The consumers will pay just as much for their sugar as heretofore.
The only beneficiary of the proceeding will be the sugar trust, which will get its foreign raw material in duty free."

"The democratic administration throws to the winds $55,000,000 revenue, and knicks into a cocked hat the flourishing domestic sugar industry; and nobody a penny the better but the sugar trust!"

"And Wisconsin farmers will be among the hard hit. And Senator La Follette voted for the measure!"
As our pictorial friend, Mr. Ketten, says, "Can you beat it?"

Sawing wood is going to be fine exercise for the coming winter for those who are unfortunate enough to have to serve a term in the county jail. Sheriff Whipple is taking the right steps towards enforcing the commitment law.

Even the old-time farmers sat up and took notice when boys under twenty told them they could grow corn crops that totaled over a hundred bushels to the acre plots experimented on.

Janesville has improved wonderfully during the past year and many new homes have been erected. This speaks well for the community and general prosperity of the city.

It is said that John Lind has packed his trunk. But it is not reported that he said anything, even though he may have let the lid fall on his thumb.

One good thing about the Mexican situation is that it is never the same for much more than one day at a time.

Where is that wholesome importa-

going to come with the new tariff law?

What has become of Castro? Why mitted to the Annapolis club yet?

Talks

THREE THOUSAND ARTIFICIAL LEGS.
From Europe comes a bit of news well calculated to make an American grateful for his citizenship in this country. It brings vividly and forcibly to mind the atrocities of warfare such as that of the Balkan states. It makes the old man here think of the time when he or his friend and comrade came back maimed and mutilated from the battlefields of the civil war.

Here is the item:
A "government now engaged in war" advertises in a German paper for 3,000 artificial legs. They are wanted to replace those torn off by shrapnel and shell or smashed by rifle bullet or ridden over by artillery wheels or the terrible hoofs of charging cavalry.

Three thousand artificial legs! Think of the aggregate of misery they represent!

Once there were 3,000 natural legs which bore their possessors proudly to war. They marched away from home, just as you and I, reader, leave our own homes to go to our daily toil.

Now the legs lie rotting on Balkan battlefields with the bodies of thousands who, perhaps more mercifully, have been spared the pain and perils of continued lives with limbs lopped off.

As careless boys, unheeding of insects' pain, twist and pull off the parts of insects, so these limbs of men have been twisted and torn off to gratify the war-makers, the lusts after territory, the proud and ambitions.

Think of those 3,000 artificial limbs!
Was Sherman right in his characterization of war?

"But we do not make war," the readers say. "It is made by the statesmen, who do not send men to death and wounds unless there is no other way open."

The other way is opening. It leads men along the path of international arbitration, of discussion of differences. In this highest and most honorable of national and international pursuits our own government is a leader.

Statesmen and kings and governments do not nowadays make war. It is waged by the people themselves, and there is the final decision in the momentous question, "War or peace?"

If the voice of a nation is unmistakeably opposed to war no president, king or emperor will coerce it into the ways of slaughter of fellow men. Only the people themselves can take that road.

In the cause of international peace all can help.

If throughout the world the people of hamlet and village and town and city join with one voice in denouncing war there will be no more war.

New Cigar Store

The general public who have been in the habit of stopping at Bakers' Drug Store, some of them for more than 30 years, will be surprised and pleased to find the change made in our Cigar department. Two new marble and plate glass cases 10 feet long, and a large 8-ft. back wall case, having been installed. These cases are all zinc lined humidors, every compartment capable of keeping cigars and tobaccos in fresh factory condition—no dry cigars. As we have always handled the leading brands of domestic and clear Havana cigars, both local and imported, will be in position to handle more brands and sizes than before and request the smokers to inspect these new cases as they are the very finest in the city.

INCOME ASSESSMENT FOR CITY IS LESS; TOTAL OF $33,014

City Will Collect $3,000 Less Than Last Year—Largest Individual Tax is $1,119.

The city of Janesville will collect $33,014 in income taxes this year according to the tax roll which is now in shape at the city clerk's office. This is about three thousand dollars less than the amount assessed last year. It is probably that nearly one half of the tax will be paid by the property owners. It is probable that the revenue from this source will be slightly less this year.

The actual revenue to the city from the income tax law last year was $11,648.19, or seventy per cent of the cash collections, the remaining thirty per cent being the share of the county and state. It is probable that the revenue from this source will be slightly less this year.

The largest individual tax amounts to $1,119. The lowest tax assessed is one cent. There are a number of persons who will pay less than twenty cents as an income tax. There are a few whose tax is over one hundred dollars, and the majority is under $50.

The largest corporation income tax amounts to $2,011.84, and the lowest is ninety-four cents. Other large sums to be paid in corporation taxes are as follows: $1,942.16, $1,019.90, $1,751 and $870.

Owing to the fact that the exact figures of the county and state levies against the city of Janesville have not been received, the rate of taxation has not been determined. From the estimates received the indications are that it will be about $16 a thousand, or slightly more. The state levy will be higher than usual, which will account for an increase, if any.

THOMPSON AWARDED PRISONERS' LABOR

Agrees to Pay County Fifty Cents per Cord for Wood Sawed—Start Hauling Today.

Charles Thompson has been awarded by Sheriff C. S. Whipple the right to the labor of such prisoners committed to the county jail for which no other employment is found. He will haul cordwood to the county jail lot, where it will be sawed into stove and furnace length by prisoners. For their labor they will pay the county fifty cents a cord. The first load of wood was to be hauled late this afternoon. Some will be piled to the north of the building where the turnkey will be able to keep the workers under supervision through the office window. Some will also be piled in the barn so that the prisoners can keep at work in rain or stormy weather. At the present time there are no prisoners awaiting the honor of initiating the project.

FOUR MEN IN COURT ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Judge Maxfield Gratified at Success of Innovation—Mulcairns Draws Ninety Days.

Four men were arraigned before Municipal Judge Harry Maxfield at the newly instituted night court Saturday night. The prisoners being represented from the effects of intoxication sufficiently to appear. Judge Maxfield was very enthusiastic over the plan and pronounced it a great success as the four men were given employment by Sheriff C. S. Whipple Sunday morning, preventing a day lay-over in the city lock-up.

Mike Mulcairns, who has made his appearance at regular intervals, received the flat sentence of ninety days. William Gandall, was sentenced to fifteen days in default of a fine of $15. Edward Blanchard and Stephen Cannell, each received thirty days for their over indulgence. Night court will be held on the coming Saturday if enough prisoners are locked up to grant the holding of the extra session.

A special Thanksgiving dinner will be served at the Hotel Myers. See menu on page 2.

PROSPECTIVE GROOM GIVES CERTIFICATE

Presents Bill of Health Although Law Requiring One Does Not Apply Until January.

County Clerk Howard Lee this morning received the first application for a marriage license to which was appended a physician's certificate of the health of the groom although such certificates are not required by law until January 1, 1914. County Clerk Lee has had new blanks printed in anticipation of the operation of the new law. When a blank form was written for by the prospective groom he filled one of the new ones but omitted to cross out the blank for a physician's certificate. The applicant faithfully proceeded to have it made out and was his name to be disclosed he would be credited with present a certificate of good health as a requisite to marriage. The law requires that the examiner shall be a physician duly licensed to practice in Wisconsin and of at least thirty years of age.

EXHIBIT CHILDREN'S BOOKS WILL CLOSE ON WEDNESDAY

Those desiring to examine the exhibit of selected editions of children's books will have to do so before Wednesday as it comes to a close that evening. It had been hoped that the exhibit could be kept in a longer time but the Wisconsin Library Commission has such a demand for it that the time was cut short. The exhibit comprises both expensive and inexpensive editions of the children's classics, the former beautifully illustrated. Among them are "Robinson Crusoe," "Grimm's Fairy Tales," "Gulliver's Travels," and "Pilgrim's Progress." Among the novelties are the cut-out blue books, one of which is "The Farm That Gave Me." The exhibit is such as to hold the attention of the adult as well as the child.

ON FITTING BEARINGS

VALUABLE HINT FOR OWNER OR GARAGE MAN.

Method Employed by Large Taxicab Concern Is Well Worth Knowing.

It has been found that after an annular ball bearing has been replaced in the outer portion of a wheel hub a few times, the hub is apt to have been stretched so that when subsequent annular bearings are to be fitted the recess in the hub is too large. It is very necessary that a front wheel hub bearing fit snugly in place, and to make them fit so, the method illustrated is employed by a large taxicab concern, says Motor Age.

The bearing in this case is much too small to fit snugly without the presence of the four flat strips of steel employed. In fitting the bearing into the wheel with these strips to secure it, the wheel is laid on its side and one or more strips are arranged at four points 90 degrees apart around the circumference of the bearing recess. The same number of strips is employed at each point so that the wheel may be properly centered. The strips are cut a little longer than is necessary so that they reach within about 1/4 of an inch of the bottom of the bearing recess, and still leave about 1/2 to 3/4 inch to be bent or hooked over the edge of the hub recess as indicated at S in the illustration. This is to hold the strips in place while the bearing is being fitted. When the bearing has been forced into place between the strips, the ends which were hooked over the edge of the hub may be cut off if necessary with a chisel, or by bending them over and back a few times until they break off, then the rough portions remaining should be filed off smooth and flush. If these extensions can be simply bent in and retained, however, it might facilitate the next refitting operation considerably.

It must be borne in mind that unless the annular bearing in a wheel is properly secured, movement will take place between the bearing and its recess, that will be detrimental to the life thereof.

Farmers Are Progressive.

Wonderful transitions have been witnessed in all lines of business activity during the past few years, but nowhere has greater progress taken place than on the farm. People have always envied the independence of the farmer, but usually stalled at the thought of the hard work attached to such a life. But times have changed and the present day farmer earns his independence and bank account with greater ease than the average office or factory employee. The tractor engine for plowing, the many automatic appliances and the automobile have reduced hard labor almost to the minimum and made wealth possible.

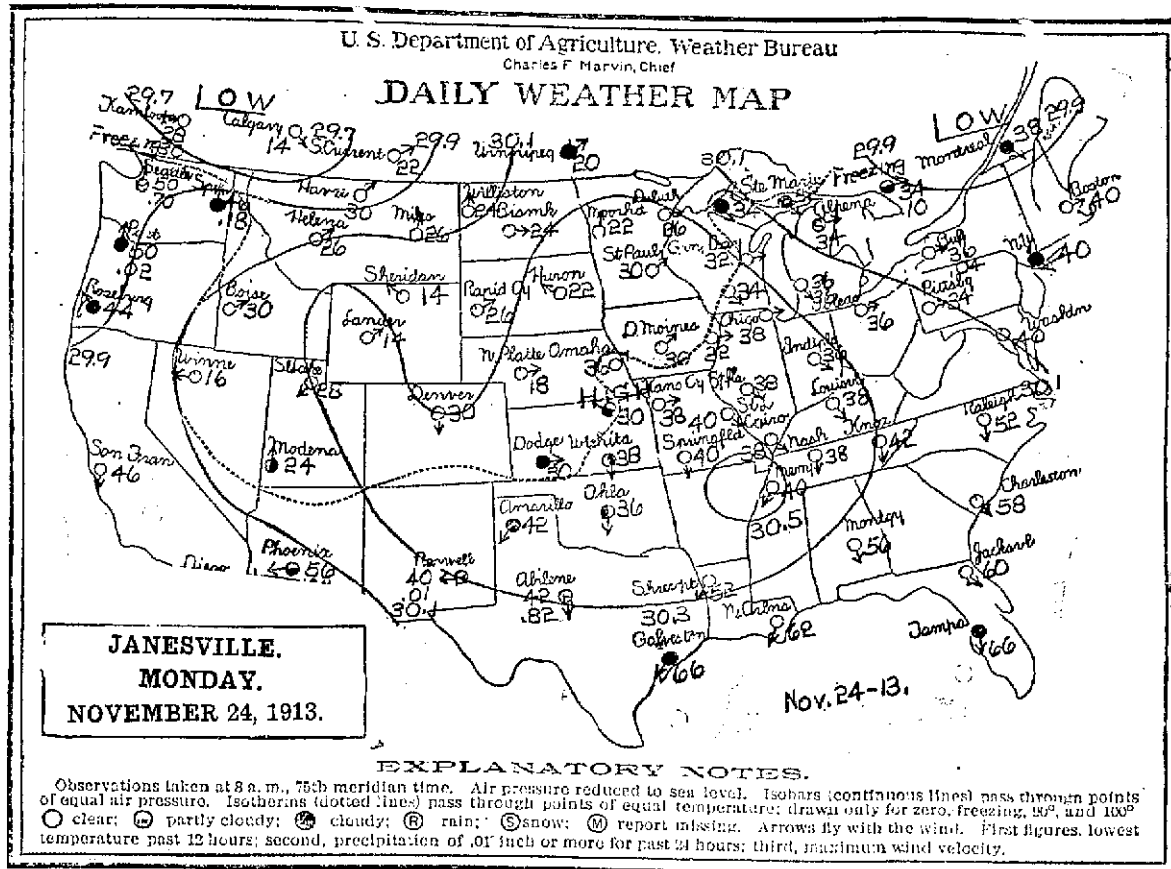

An interesting example of the economy and utility of the automobile is related of a prominent farmer living near Crystal, N. D., who owns a 30-horsepower car. Farmer Anderson recently wanted a large road grader in an adjoining township ten miles away. A supply of horses not being available at the time, he decided to press his car into service. The place was reached in 20 minutes, whereas several hours would have been required had horses been used. Hitching the grader behind the car, Mr. Anderson started to make a record-breaking trip homeward. Such speed was attained that the axle bearings of the grader were soon sizzling like the hot box of a railroad coach. This required frequent stops and generous supplies of grease on the bearings, but the motor in the car was not stopped once during the entire trip.

Master of Car.

"One thing that has contributed, more than any other single factor, to the increase in the number of women drivers of gasoline automobiles," says J. L. Judd, an automobile salesman, "is the electric equipment now found on the majority of good cars. The woman of average strength was deterred from attempting to drive a gasoline car before the cranking device was perfected. She could steer, handle the gears and brakes, and do everything else necessary, except turn the motor over. So she could not take a car out unless accompanied by some one able to crank the engine.

"In my opinion the average woman is a better driver than the average man. As a rule she does not thirst for speed; and it is my observation that she displays better judgment in situations which only good judgment will save. In other words, she will not take the chances a man will when he is behind the steering wheel of an automobile. Doubtless many companies adopted the electric starter as a matter of convenience and as a time-saver. It is all that could be desired in this direction; and in addition has put the women of the household in the pleasant position of being complete masters of the gasoline car."

November 24, 1913.—An area of high barometer now occupies the central valley region between the Rockies and the Appalachians. It is attended by fair and cooler weather. There are centers of low barometer in the St. Lawrence valley, in British Columbia, and in Arizona, and each of these is attended by a more or less extended rain area. The depression in western Canada is causing chinook winds in Montana and Alberta.

"DENVIR" LETTERS TO CAUSE INQUIRY?

John T. Denvir (top) and Chester M. Dawes.

John T. Denvir, member of the Illinois senate, may have to submit to some sort of a legislative inquiry as the result of threatening letters signed with his name and written to Chester M. Dawes, counsel for the Burlington railroad. Denvir is chairman of the Illinois legislative commission, and the letters, written on the commission's stationery, stated that unless the road came through with passes Mr. Denvir and his legislative conferees would "slam the road into the hands of a receiver." Denvir denies having written the letters.

STOUGHTON ELEVEN WINS AT EDGERTON

Fierce Gridiron Contest Waged at Edgerton Saturday With Visitors Winning, 26 to 7.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, Nov. 24.—The game of football against Stoughton Saturday afternoon at the driving park, which ended with a score of 26 to 7 in favor of the visiting team, was about the prettiest exhibition of football the local eleven has shown this season and Stoughton is as strong a team as Edgerton has yet clashed with.

Edgerton played the strongest game during the last half of the period, when the forward pass was worked with surprising success. It was in the third quarter that Edgerton scored their touchdown. After that the ball wavered back and forth near the center of the field, neither team being able to gain much headway.

The sidelines at the driving park were crowded with fully five hundred spectators, half of the number being from Stoughton. The presence of the Stoughton rooters completely neutralized the disadvantage of their team, playing on foreign territory.

Stoughton showed that they knew how to cheer and brought with them their city band consisting of 36 pieces. A banquet and dance was given in the gymnasium by the local team to the Stoughton boys and the faculty.

IF CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK. Look Mother! If tongue is coated, cleanse little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is they become tightly clogged, with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless, children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

THE MYERS THEATRE

The Manly Man. Theatre goes fond of classic or legitimate drama—the Shakespeare pieces and other serious plays—will find their favorite style of theatrical amusement in William Farnum's program in John Cort's Lillian Russell company at Myers Theatre Tuesday night. Mr. Farnum will appear as Virginius in the tragedy of "Virginius"—those parts of the tragedy that make the main character so lovable to the audience—and the actor will be aided by six associate players. John McCullough was regarded as the most popular Virginius ever seen on the American stage up to the advent of William Farnum in this great tragic part. McCullough was handsome, intelligent, spirited, powerful, dramatic and magnetic, and his Virginius was one of the glories of the classic stage. What Edwin Booth accomplished artistically as Hamlet so McCullough rounded out as Virginius. His Roman was to the masses what George Rigold's Henry V stood for the great public. In William Farnum, John Cort believes he has found not only the honest successor to John McCullough in Virginius, but the modern monarch of tragic acting in general. "William Farnum," says Mr. Cort, "is the present-day master tragedian. He is the head of the legitimate school of acting, the greatest living representative of classic drama." The proof of Mr. Cort's sincerity in Farnum is the fact that the intrepid impresario is to star his favorite in "Virginius." "The Gladiator," "Incomar," etc., at the conclusion of the Lillian Russell special tour. Mr. Farnum is said to follow closely the McCullough style of acting, and the version of "Virginius" used is the same as McCullough's. The scenery is said to be the most pretentious ever seen in vaudeville. William Farnum's starring tour next season may or may not prove him to be the master tragedian of the day—but so far as his personal qualities are concerned John Cort may feel secure in having one of the handsomest men ever seen on the American stage. In appearance Farnum is the ideal tragedian—powerfully built, of olive-dark complexion, a clear-cut Roman profile, a superb figure, a piercing eye, a wide nostril, a thin mouth, jet black hair and the voice of a Caesar. Attractive women may be really beautiful or merely pretty, but a handsome man can only be handsome in one way: the manly way. The Farnum way. The pretty man is not handsome, and a beauty in his bodily make-up is about as predominant as brains in his sappy skull. McCullough, Booth, Emmet, Reigold, Wallack, Mayo, Barrymore—these were the men of wholesome handsomeness in the past, and William Farnum, Dustin Farnum, John Mason, et al., are the present day type of handsome men—a rare animal in these effeminate days; so, like John Cort, the theatre manager, the theatre auditor should glory in every discovery of the manly man. Whisper: "This said Mr. Cort may present both his handsomest man, Farnum, and his most beautiful woman, Lillian Russell in one of the Shakespearean bills of play next season."

"Stop Thief." "Stop Thief" has all the crooks stopped. There will be a reform in the "crook" kingdom when they all get to see this new farce which Cohen & Harris will present at the Myers Theatre Friday, Nov. 28. The plot of "Stop Thief" is a very original one. An absent minded old man who is afflicted with kleptomania, and a bridegroom who is afflicted with the same, decide to take things which don't belong to him, and a real thief who endeavors to get away with everything valuable furnishes the theme. The stealing and losing valuables get so contagious that when you reach in your pocket for your gloves you wouldn't be a bit surprised if you found a diamond bracelet or a jeweled ear trumpet. The family gets so nervous that at times it looks as if everybody on the stage has St. Vitus dance. The man who said all comedy primarily arose from watching the other fellow's troubles had the keynote. The same company which appeared at the Gaiety Theatre all last season will be seen in their respective parts when the play is presented here on Nov. 28th.

NEW YORK WOMAN CONTESTS WILL OF MOBILE BANKER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Mobile, Ala., Nov. 24.—Hearing was begun in the Probate Court today on the contest brought by Mrs. Marjorie A. Hopkins of New York City to break the will of Mrs. Katherine M. Aueries, an aged resident of Mobile who died some time ago and left an estate of $200,000. Mrs. Hopkins claims to be a niece and the only surviving heir of Mrs. Aueries. The latter's will directed that the bulk of the estate be given to two sisters of Michael A. McDermott, who was named as executor. Mrs. Hopkins alleges that the will is not a valid one for the reason that the testatrix was not of sound mind and not capable of disposing of her property and that Mrs. Aueries was false and fraudulently made to believe that she (Mrs. Hopkins) was dead.

Latest Embroidery Ideas

By Effie Archer Archer

Formerly Embroidery Editor of the Delineator

THE thing that women are interested in when it comes to embroidery, is the design—the idea. We scan the pages of countless magazines and roam through the shops simply to get new ideas.

Until now, there have been few new ideas for working designs in silk—the queen of embroidery materials.

I am glad to say—and I know you will be pleased to learn—that, starting to-day, the entire order of things will be changed.

A remarkable innovation in the form of a new kind of embroidery outfit is being put on the market.

It is called the Silk-Craft Embroidery Outfit and, instead of containing the usual stamped material, each envelope contains a Transfer Pattern—Free.

You pay only the regular price of the silk contained in the package. The Transfer Pattern, which would sell regularly for 10c at the least, is absolutely free.

In addition to this, each envelope contains simple, easy-to-understand instructions for making, together with the proper needle for the work, all ready to use.

On the front of the envelope is an actual color reproduction of the article all made up. You can see just how it will look, colors and all. Silk-Craft Embroidery Outfits, including the Transfer Pattern, sell for 25c and 50c.

World's Latest Designs

But the designs are what will please you most. They represent the very latest ideas of the master designers of this country and Europe.

Nowhere else will you find them, until months after they appear in Silk-Craft Embroidery Outfits and there will be twelve new designs each month—a hundred and forty-four a year.

No matter what kind of needlework you are interested in, no matter whether you are a beginner or an artist, you will find each month a number of designs or ideas made up especially for you.

This is the most comprehensive effort ever made to bring before you the newest and most authoritative suggestions from all corners of the globe.

The old and well-known firm of M. Heminway & Sons' Silk Co. is responsible for this remarkable innovation, and they have made arrangements to get the new ideas long before anyone else, regardless of cost; for they realize that on that depends the greatest success of this splendid new idea.

Formerly as Embroidery Editor of the Butterick Publishing Company, I had an opportunity to see what everyone was doing, both in the consuming and manufacturing of silk. I had sort of a bird's-eye view of the field.

So interested did I become in these new plans of M. Heminway & Sons' Silk Co., that I decided to join their forces and give all my time to helping them realize their ideas.

It is therefore a great pleasure to me to be able to make this announcement to my many friends.

A New Magazine

M. Heminway & Sons' Silk Co. is also the publisher of a new magazine—the Silk-Craft Embroidery Magazine—which is to be distributed free by the leading department stores.

Don't measure the value of this magazine by the fact that it is free.

While edited by me, this new magazine will be contributed to each month by a number of other writers as well as myself.

We are going into the open market and select the best articles and ideas of the best writers everywhere.

No expense will be spared. We want to make the Silk-Craft Embroidery Magazine the embroidery authority of this country.

I cannot but feel that we are working for a wonderful cause. The temptation among art needleworkers is to use other materials than silk because of its slight national cost.

Perhaps this is somewhat the fault of the silk manufacturers themselves, perhaps they have failed to impress upon us the many exclusive advantages and the true economy of using silk.

How Wonderful Is Silk

The wonderful sheen, the exquisite shades, the richness and the permanency of color are but a few points that make silk the ideal embroidery material.

Whoever heard of an embroidered fabric worn with any other material than silk? No other thread would last.

It seems a pity that women will put the effort, the thought and the time into working up some beautiful design only to have it wear out in a year or less.

The difference in first cost between silk and other threads is as nothing compared to the difference in their life—silk will outlast any other thread ten times over.

And this is why I feel that we are working for a great cause. We want to bring silk into its own. It is the queen of embroidery materials. We want to keep it on its throne.

A Splendid Offer

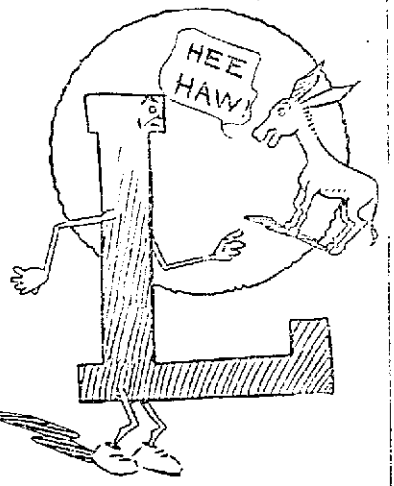

In order to introduce the new Silk-Craft Embroidery Outfits quickly, M. Heminway & Sons' Silk Co. have decided to make a remarkable offer.

They will give away absolutely free a regular 25c Silk-Craft Embroidery Outfit to every woman who orders a set of 12 outfits with the first issue of their new magazine.

Frankly, I have never heard of such a generous offer and I advise every woman to accept it. I am told that all leading dry goods and department stores have Silk-Craft Embroidery Outfits or can get them for you.

The particular article offered is a circular pillow-top in one of the new modern art designs and stands appeal to every lover of art needlework.

Paying Toll on Tigris River. At one ferry on the Tigris river the toll is as follows: For a poor Arab, two cents; for a prosperous Arab, four cents; for a soldier, ten cents; for a pilgrim, twenty cents; for a European, eighty cents. The scale of prices for nearly everything along the way is similar. But many of the Arabs are so poor that they prefer to swim across in the ancient manner. To Die in the Last Ditch.
The saying to die in the last ditch, may be attributed to William of Orange. When Buckingham urged the inevitable destruction which hung over the united provinces and asked him whether he did not see that the commonwealth was ruined, "There is one certain means," replied the prince, "by which I can be sure never to see my country's ruin—I will die in the last ditch."

HOW TO MAKE BIDDY TO LAY GOLDEN EGGS

Wisconsin Agriculture Professor Tells How to Coax Hens to Lay High Priced Eggs.

"A few years ago many farmers allowed their hens to go dry early in November and then freshen in April. The farm hen sometimes does the same thing—goes dry in October and begins to lay in March. This long dry spell cuts down the possible profits. This is the explanation given by James G. Halpin, poultryman for the College of Agriculture at Madison of the present scarcity of eggs. Mr. Halpin thinks that many farm flocks are not getting quite the attention that they really deserve and as a consequence are not meeting the demand for freshly laid eggs. "Right now poultry houses should be deeply bedded with dry straw," declares Mr. Halpin, "and all the grain feed should be worked into this litter so that the hens may get good exercise and amusement hunting for it. If nothing of this kind is done, the flock will huddle in one corner of the poultry house or in or about one of the other farm buildings and will seem to lose all interest in life. When they get into this lazy and indifferent habit at this time of the year, winter eggs will be few and hard to get. It is well to get the hens to exercising and hunting as they go to the feed and then sell fifty cent eggs to the city buyers who want the genuine article. "The flock should be given as great a variety of grain as possible, some corn, wheat, oats and barley mixed together, or fed alternately, makes a satisfactory ration. If all of these grains are not produced on the farm, then feed those that are raised. On cold nights, take some hot water into the house, thoroughly heat it up on the kitchen stove, then break into small pieces and scatter over the feeding floor an hour or more before dark. Arrange a mash box or trough with a little ground feed where the hens may have access to it. They can then go to the 'pantry' and get 'a bite' to eat when the grain is gone from the litter. A warm mash of moist, ground feed, table scraps, etc., fed so that all of the flock has access to it and only what they will eat greedily in fifteen minutes is good for laying hens.

On the Spur of the Moment

Man's Wants.
"Man wants but little here below," That was an ancient song; We do not hear it now, you know, The sentiment is wrong. Man wants just now all he can get, In way of sordid tin; The way that some go after it Seems like a very sin. Man wants a fancy touring car, He wants a private yacht; He wants to get a lot of junk His neighbors haven't got. He wants a lot of suits of clothes And rare gems for his wife. He wants a chateau by the sea, To make complete his life. He wants a lot of stocks and bonds, And Standard Oil preferred; He also wants a lot of things Of which he never heard. He doesn't really want them, In true sense of the term; But thinks he does and that's the same. And he'll work and squirm To garner everything in sight And keep it stored away. He saves a lot of useless junk To meet the rainy day; And when he dies, he passes on With nothing left to say. Because he cannot take along A thing of any kind. "Wouldn't suit a lot of men first rate If they were but endowed With brains sufficient to invent A pocket for the shroud."

Bill, the Barber.
"When I want to make a little coin on the side to help meet the high cost of living, I have a few razors or give a few lessons on the mandolin," said Bill, the barber. "Is that so?" politely asked the regular customer. "Yes, I do," Jerry, the bootblack, pieces out his salary by huppin' bells upstairs in the hotel after the shop has closed. Bob, the bartender up to Joe's, deal a little bank while he is off watch and the copper out here on the corner, he is interested in a chicken farm.

"Which only goes to show what?" asked the regular customer. "Which only goes to show that we have all got to go up a little of the soft stuff on the side. Everything has advanced during the past ten years excepting salaries. I don't blame Bryan a particle. When Daniel Webster was secretary of state he picked out his salary and bought food for hungry diplomats by playing poker. John Hay wrote poetry; Elihu Root practiced law. Bryan makes speeches. What's the difference? What if they do put him on with a bunch of boot rollers, snake charmers, yodlers and Egyptian dancers? If Bryan can stand it, you and I haven't got any kick coming."

"The trouble with Bryan is not that he makes Chaw-chaw speeches. No, indeed. The trouble with Bryan is that he is a Democrat. That has been the trouble right along. There are certain people in this country who believe that Rome was burned by a Democrat, that a Democrat boarded the bottom of the Titanic and made her sink and that Charlie Ross was kidnapped by a Democrat. Benedict Arnold was a Democrat—sure. So was Judas and so was Captain Kidd."

According to Uncle Abner.
There are just as many men who kin sharpen a lead pencil as there are men who kin sew a button on a shirt. I always pays to be honest on Sunday. The honest days when it pays to be honest are Saturday, Wednesday, Monday, Friday, Tuesday and Thursday. I don't believe when a feller lies about a fish that it is going to be chalked up agin' him very hard, for that is about the only way a feller kin catch the big ones. No man in the history of this world ever invented anything that was as interesting as a baby. Miss Amy Price complains that the millinery business is going to the bad. It is getting so there ain't more than $80 per cent profit in any hat that she sells. There is a lot of talk about vocational schools, but what the kids would rather have are vocational schools.

Those With Blue Eyes.
Blue-eyed men are highly intellectual, morally firm and mathematically correct in thought, word and act. They are the rulers of their families, and the powerful figures in the moral, intellectual and industrial worlds. When a blue-eyed maid meets a blue-eyed man Greek meets Greek; then comes the tug of war. Why?

Schlitz The Beer That Made Milwaukee Famous.

The Fruit Trees

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Slawash."

Will the gentle autumn is merging almost imperceptibly into winter, the careful house owner is inserting his next year's fruit trees into the hard-frozen bosom of the earth. The infant fruit tree is a bright ray of promise which gladdens the winter for its eager owner. In the spring, however, it does not gladden the owner so much. This is because it is busy gladdening the borer, the caterpillar, the beetle and the predatory worm bug. Nothing is more hospitable than the young fruit tree which has survived a long, hard winter. One small tree can hold enough bugs of various descriptions and appetites to fit out a museum of natural history. Winter is the happiest time for the owner and proprietor of the promissory fruit tree. In winter the tree blooms terrifically and bows beneath the burden of its ripe and luscious fruit. With the aid of a hand-drawn catalogue and a grate are the householder can spend many a winter evening letting down apples out of his yearling orchard with derricks. But in the spring when the gnawful rabbit, the industrious blue jay and the cunning bug arrive and when winter lops around in the lap of May until the peach crop is exceedingly whence the parent and guardian of the infant fruit tree is not so happy. Later on he pours 11,000 gallons of metered water around said tree, wraps it with dry paper, bandages its limbs, secures its roots, combs its limbs with a fine-toothed comb and nurses it with perspiring care. In the course of time it brings forth fruit, and 9,000 small boys emerge from the mysterious storehouse of youth and climb its tender branches—after which the early July cyclone picks it up and bears it swiftly away to deposit it in the parlor of a total stranger, with one limb thrown nastily through the piano. And yet many fruit trees arrive at maturity and make good with their owners. Nothing is more inspiring than to stroll forth in the evening with a china plate and harvest the peach crop that has rewarded several years of earnest endeavor. No great good is won without some sorrow, and fruit tree owners should not despair.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE FALLIBILITY OF DOCTORS.

IN THE middle of a consultation a hurry call penetrated from the outer office. The doctor hurriedly excused himself, sat down at his desk, and after a moment's intense thought, wrote a prescription. By the changing expression of his face, it was possible to follow the detachment of his mind from the subject he had been considering, and its refocusing on the new problem. Hurried as he was, he read the prescription over carefully before he handed it to his assistant. As the assistant hastened off with it, the doctor turned to the waiting patient and said: "You know, my doctors are the only men in the world who mustn't make mistakes." Then he added, whimsically, "and being men, we can't help it."

This little incident which I happened to witness the other day impressed me deeply. It was such an interesting commentary from the doctor's own view point on the fallibility of doctors.

It is surprising to see how many intelligent people seem to regard doctors as peculiarly infallible. Now mind you, this is not intended as a reflection upon physicians. Take them by and large, I think there is not a finer class of men living. In what other profession is it common, almost the customary thing, to shade down the fee to the man who cannot afford to pay the full price? Why are there so few rich doctors? In what other profession is there so much pure charity work done? In what other profession are there so many men honest enough to take the bread out of their own mouths by educating their clients not to need them, as most doctors try to educate their patients in preventive medicine?

But, honorable and generous gentlemen though they are, they are human and, therefore, they are fallible—a thing which many people need to realize more fully. Let me tell you what a prominent doctor said to me the other day. "I often marvel," he declared, "that so many people will take one doctor's word on such an important matter as a diagnosis involving an operation. A woman will go to every shop in town before she will pick out a suit, but she will let herself be cut up on a single doctor's advice."

And again, another physician, whom I had known since his youth, admitted in a confidential moment, "We doctors don't know half so much as you laymen think we do."

Medicine is still an inexact science, and doctors are only men after all, and as the corollary of these facts has already been stated, I won't burn you by repeating it.

UNUSUAL DISHES.

This is rather an unusual way of serving frankfurts. Boil six sausages fifteen minutes, cool and remove the skin and cut in small bits. Mix three tablespoons of flour with one and a half cups of milk. Add the sausages, season with half a teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of cayenne.

For a change from the usual baked apple, steam some cored greenings until tender; then just before serving, glaze them with a few spoonfuls of grape. Serve with cream.

Almond Balls.—Pound a half cup of blanched almonds to a fine pulp. Beat two eggs well, season with salt, cayenne and a very little chopped parsley; then add the almonds and three-fourths of a cup of sifted flour and a teaspoonful of baking powder. Roll with buttered palms into small balls and boil in the soup just before serving. The length of time for cooking depends upon the size. If the size of a hickory nut six minutes will cook them.

Green Pea Custard.—Rinse a can of peas in cold water and drain; add to the peas a pint of milk, a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper and two well beaten eggs. Cook in individual cups in a pan of hot water twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

Chesse Croquettes.—Cut into small dice one pound of American cheese. Have ready a cup of hot white sauce, add to it the cheese, the yolks of two well beaten eggs, diluted with a little cream. Stir until well blended, season with salt, red pepper and a grating of nutmeg. Set on ice until cold, then form croquettes, and roll in fine crumbs. Dip in egg, then in crumbs again, and fry in deep fat.

Chicken Souffle.—Mix together a tablespoonful of melted butter and one of flour; stir in a pint of milk or cream, a little onion juice, chopped parsley and salt and pepper. When thick, add a cupful of chopped chicken and the beaten yolks of two eggs. Cool, and add the beaten whites. Pour into a buttered dish and set in hot water and bake in a moderate oven until firm. Serve with mushroom sauce.

which is unusually good in the first place because of its quality, and fastidious shape. This is an electric percolator, by the way, and its contents are heated by conducting it with a electric current. The method is thoroughly tried so that the heat shall not affect the decorative design, as would otherwise be the case.

THE TABLE.

Hollandaise.—Arrange six thin slices of fat salt pork two and one-half inches square in a dripping pan. Cover with one small onion, thinly sliced, and add a bit of bay leaf. Wipe a two-pound piece of chicken halibut and place over pork and onion. Mash with three table-spoonfuls of butter creamed and mixed with three table-spoonfuls of flour. Cover with three-fourths cup of buttered cracker crumbs and arrange thin strips of fat salt pork over the crumbs. Cover with buttered paper and bake fifty minutes in a moderate oven, removing the paper during the last fifteen minutes of the cooking to brown crumbs. Remove to a hot serving dish and garnish with slices of lemon cut in fancy shapes and sprinkled with finely chopped parsley and paprika.

Yorkshire Pudding.—One cup of milk, one cup of flour, two eggs, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt. Mix the salt and flour, and add the milk gradually to form a smooth paste, then add the eggs beaten until very light. Cover bottom of hot pan with some of beef fat tried out from a roast, pour the mixture in a pan one-half inch deep. Bake twenty minutes in a hot oven, basting after well risen, with some of the fat from the pan in which the meat is roasting. Cut in squares for serving. Bake, if preferred, in greased, hissing hot iron gem pans.

Corn Fritters.—One can of corn, one cup of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, two teaspoonfuls of salt, one-quarter teaspoonful of paprika, two eggs.

Chop the corn and add the dry ingredients mixed and sifted then add the yolks of eggs beaten until thick, and fold in the whites of eggs, beaten stiff. Cook in a frying pan in fresh hot lard. Drain on paper.

Fried Eggplant.—Pare an eggplant and cut in very thin slices. Sprinkle slices with salt and pile on a plate. Cover with a weight, to express the juice, and let stand one and one-half hours. Dredge with flour and saute slowly in butter until crisp and brown.

Chicken Salad Dressing.—One-half cup of rich chicken stock, one-half cup of vinegar, yolks of five eggs, three table-spoonfuls of mixed mustard, one teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoonful of pepper, few grains of cayenne, one-half cup of thick cream, one-third cup of melted butter. Reduce the stock in which the food has been cooked to one-half a cupful. Add the vinegar, yolks of eggs slightly beaten, mustard, salt, pepper, and cayenne. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens. Strain, add the cream and melted butter, then cool.

Every Day Talks for Every Day People

BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

To say what the standard wages for men are, is rather a difficult thing to do; some say three dollars a day, some claim it is two dollars daily.

While the difference of a dollar each day in one's income must necessarily mean a great deal, the thing for a woman to do is to know what her husband's income really is.

Knowing this—STAY INSIDE OF IT. There is no denying that in many cases it is almost impossible. Now, if you almost, not quite impossible. Change your point of view; if your present view of life makes you think that it is necessary for you to have a larger income, and your husband is doing his level best, and you know that he is, why simply decide to retrench—cut down expenses.

There are so many things that we can live comfortably without, so many places where we can save a little without any noticeable difference in the running of the home. This belongs to the woman's side of the partnership, for surely you can not expect him to earn the money and spend it too.

That last sentence may sound sarcastic; it is not meant to be. It's a woman's place to spend the money; and John has every right to know just how it is spent, and the duty of learning to spend judiciously—not recklessly—rests on the shoulders of every woman who is the wife of an everyday man, a man on a salary.

Our schools are all waiting up to the fact that when our children finish school, hang up their diploma and prepare to enter the arena where no quarter is expected or given, they are often pitifully unfit for the struggle—untrained—even after the years of preparation, years of toil on the part of the parents, teachers and pupils.

Now we are not going to try and trace the blame, and start a calamity wall; that isn't the way to accomplish results. That our present system of education is somewhat faulty is very apparent in many ways. That it also has much that is good in it is just as apparent. And one fact stands out clearly before the eyes of every fair-minded parent: "We leave too much for our teachers to do. We do not do enough ourselves."

If we parents taught our children the value of a dollar, the no-arguing-away-from-it fact that to not stay inside one's income is to meet certain defeat, the ability to be a good manager, even on a small scale, the incalculable value of time, say would our schools have the irresponsible crowd of young people leaving them as "finished" that they now have?

Getting right down to bare facts, can we mothers teach our children what we do not know ourselves? If we be not good managers, can we teach our youngsters how to be? The thing for us mothers to do is to ascertain whether or not we are our-

GIRLS PLEAD FOR FREE SANTA CLAUS MAIL; PRESIDENT WILSON SYMPATHETIC

Miss Anna V. Evans of Philadelphia and Miss Olive M. Wilson of Jenkintown, Pa., have been in Washington soliciting the approval of the president and vice president of a plan to send Christmas presents to poor children by means of a postoffice frank. Miss Wilson, who is only seventeen, is the leader spirit in the enterprise and she had no trouble in securing a letter of commendation from the vice president. Armed with this she saw President Wilson and laid her plan before him. He expressed sympathy with her cause and said he hoped the day would come when congress would adopt her plan.

WOMAN'S DANGER PERIOD

is said to be from 45 to 50. What should be a most natural change in a woman's life, is, on account of modern methods of living, fraught with most annoying and painful symptoms. Women when passing through this critical period should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it has proved wonderfully successful in carrying women safely through the change of life.
